

Volunteer One-to-One Team Members

Do you like to keep up with the latest information on activities in your area whilst enjoying meeting and talking to people?

If you have some spare time that you would like to use to benefit your local community and environment why not check out the opportunities to help Sheffield Renewables' One-to-One Team?

What's Involved?

Sheffield Renewables develops renewable energy projects that are led by, owned by and benefit everyone in Sheffield wanting to contribute towards the sustainable development of our city. It would be great if people could find out about our work in a setting and manner that they find enjoyable and interesting. Whilst we are continuing to develop links with local media organisations, many people prefer to hear news from those they know and by talking to people 'in the flesh'. That's where the new Sheffield Renewables One-to-One team boosts to our success.

Volunteers with the One-to-One team will have opportunities to:

- Take part in relaxed group sessions to help each other learn about and keep up to date with Sheffield Renewables' activities
- Practise discussing the wider issues influencing Sheffield Renewables' work in a clear and informative way
- Interest friends, family and neighbours in the effects of sustainable development and community action on their own lives
- Attend local festivals and events, answering people's questions

What skills/previous experience will help me in this role?

- A desire to find out more about Sheffield Renewables
- Enthusiasm for engaging people in Sheffield Renewables' work
- An outgoing personality will help in this role but is not essential as there will be opportunities to build your confidence and knowledge

That sounds like fun, but do I have enough time?

The One-to-One team is a new group that is currently being developed by Sheffield Renewables. We are aiming to run bi-monthly sessions at which our volunteers can update themselves about our current activities and help newcomers to find out more in a relaxed, enjoyable atmosphere. Volunteers can then pass on their knowledge to friends, family and neighbours as they wish. Attendance at local festivals is optional.
