Helping communities generate power,
helping savers generate returns

Buy shares because: it's good for the environment

Installing green, sustainable energy, such as hydro, solar, wind and biomass technologies, means less harm to our environment from the mining and burning fossil fuels, which releases carbon emissions. Read More...

For communities

Microgenius is a website you can use to make your Provident Society community share offer much easier.

We know share offers are a lot of work, because community shares are a new thing. With Microgenius you can collect money and your new members electronically instead of via lots of paperwork. We can help you set your minimum offer lower, and attract a wider range of investors.

Microgenius gives you ready-made social media buttons to tell people about your offer who may not have heard of community shares. We can help you with more puzzling over how to set up social media apps.

Microgenius is also well connected. We have partner organisations waiting to help spread the word about community shares. Our lovely, professional social media and marketing people can help you with all the things you need to get started.
